NERD FORCE® LAUNCHES IN MISSISSIPPI

The Nerd Force® Franchise Company ('NFFC' or "Nerd Force®"), the wholly owned subsidiary of Nexus Management, is pleased to announce that it has launched a new franchise territory in Mississippi serving Pike, Amite, Walthall, and Lincoln counties in the south west of the state.

Following closely behind the launch of three franchise territories at the beginning of March in New York State, as part of a 15 territory sale, this latest announcement provides further evidence that Nerd Force® is one of the fastest growing IT franchises in the USA offering both onsite support and managed services.

Dave Alford, the new Mississippi franchise owner, is enthusiastic about the launch and made the following comments:

"After 31 years in mainframe operations and computer programming, and my experience in the US Air Force, I am looking forward to working directly at the commercial end of the IT business. The clear benefit of being able to sell IT managed services and reduce the cost and complexity of IT for the companies here in Mississippi is very compelling, particularly in the current economic environment, and I am very excited to have this opportunity."

Boris Adlam, NFFC president, commented:

"I am delighted to have a franchisee of Dave's calibre join Nerd Force®. As a director of the Pike County Economic Development District and a military veteran he is experienced, well connected and clearly the right man to help us grow our franchise business in Mississippi. The uncertain economic environment has brought quality franchisees to the fore and provided Nerd Force® with many prospective corporate clients that wish to contain their IT costs and improve delivery by adopting managed IT services. We currently have over 150 territories throughout the world that have been sold or committed, of which 22 are already active. This is a very encouraging achievement in such a short space of time."
